

Opening of Beacon Children's Hospital

Robert Lubin recently attended the opening ceremony for Beacon Children's Hospital in Crenshaw County, Alabama. Beacon Children's Hospital is a juvenile mental health facility for patients ages 12 to 17. Children in need of mental health and psychiatric services will find relief in the hospital's comforting and secure settings. They will have access to computers and monitored television programs, and will also be presented with tasks that provide a sense of daily structure and personal responsibility. Upon opening its doors, the hospital will provide a much needed service in the State of Alabama.

Mr. Lubin has played a vital role in the opening of Beacon Children's Hospital, utilizing the EB-5 immigrant investor program to provide the equity funding that turned the dream into a reality. This EB-5 program provided a vehicle to enable four families obtain U.S. permanent residency and, more important, enabled the hospital to be established. The hospital is helping young people to get their lives back on track and become happy (and productive) adolescents and adults. Mr. Lubin was honored to attend the opening ceremony of Beacon Children's Hospital, and is sure that it will be a valuable institution in the State of Alabama.
